VIRGINIA NEWS.

William T. Booker, Esq., a well-known citizen, and at one time a prominent tobacconist of Lynchburg, died on Monday at the residence of Mr. William H. Carpenter, his son-in-law.

The condition of Dr. Frank Spencer, of Lynchburg, is said to be critical in the extreme, and owing to the complication of disease there is but slight hopes of his recovery.

Horribly Cut with a Knife.

MR. N. W. CABELL PROBABLY FATALY WOUNDED BY JACK PAINE.

A special to the Lynchburg News from Danville, dated the 6th instant, says:

Information received here this morning is that last evening in a difficulty over Rickett's shop, in the neighborhood of Whitmell, in this county, Mr. N. W. Cabell was stabbed (probably fatally) by a resident of that neighborhood named Jack Paine. It seems that a fight had occurred between a man named McClelland (or some name of similar sound), who was an overseer for Mr. Cabell, and Mr. William Paine, the father of Jack Paine, all the parties being around a wagon-camp-fire on the Franklin turnpike, near Rickett's shop. After this fight a controversy sprung up in relation to a missing bottle of whiskey, during which Cabell struck Jack Paine in the face with the butt of a pistol, breaking his nose. Paine then made a swipe at Cabell with a knife, cutting him through the left side and penetrating the diaphragm, letting out a portion of the viscera. Cabell, after being thus horribly cut, made Paine surrender the knife into his hands by holding a loaded pistol to his head. Dr. W. S. Robertson, lying about three miles off, was sent for, and came and sewed up the wound in Cabell's side, but this morning the wounded man is reported dying from loss of blood and exhaustion.

Mr. Cabell was the son of Dr. John R. Cabell, of the Cabells' neighborhood, in this county, and the nephew of Hon. George C. Cabell, M. C. from this district. Paine is the son of William Paine, an industrious and thrifty farmer living in the neighborhood of Whitmell.

THE PROPOSED SERENADE TO SENATOR MAHONE.—The committee to arrange the serenade to Senator Mahone have addressed a circular-letter to members of Congress asking contributions of money to pay the expense of the affair.—Washington Star of yesterday.

A French savant, M. Delaunay, has written a long treatise to prove from scientific data that woman is in a lower stage of development than man, both intellectually and physically. One of his proofs is that "woman is more flat-footed and less arched than man—a sign of inferiority; hence her preference for high-heeled shoes."
